

Medical Director Oncology

Sydney, Australia

Our client is a leading multinational pharmaceutical company with an excellent reputation in the Australian market and abroad. With continued growth in the oncology portfolio a new position has been created for a Medical Director. This role will be based in Sydney, proactively supporting the medical marketing initiatives across the region.

Reporting to the Regional VP for Medical your key responsibilities will include:

- ▶ Develop strategies for the Australian / New Zealand oncology business
- ▶ Manage all aspects of product development and promotion
- ▶ Provide medical and technical support within cross functional teams
- ▶ Lead and manage a team of 3 direct reports
- ▶ Work collaboratively with the commercial teams to ensure robust scientific business plans are developed
- ▶ Create and maintain KOL advocacy programs both locally and internationally
- ▶ Ensure medical initiatives and plans adhere to internal compliance and Code of Conduct regulations

This is an exciting opportunity for a Clinical Oncologist with commercial experience or a qualified Medical Doctor with several years of clinical and medical marketing experience who is passionate about business growth. Ideally you will also be MBA qualified and have prior line management experience.

On offer is the opportunity to:

- ▶ Work with several 1st in class products both marketed and at late stage development
- ▶ Be a key decision maker within the senior management team
- ▶ Provide medical and technical guidance to early phase trials
- ▶ Lead the development and implementation of global strategies in the local market
- ▶ Further strengthen your career in an organisation that fosters professional development and career progression
- ▶ A highly competitive salary package + bonus + stock options + allowances

For a confidential discussion about this opportunity please contact John on +61(2) 8081 4320 or email your CV to john@hahnhealthcare.com.au quoting reference # 7064