

Science For A Better Life

HealthCare/MaterialScience

Senior Medical Advisor - Womens Health

Bayer HealthCare, part of the wider Bayer conglomerate, are looking to recruit a Senior Medical Advisor to become a key part of the UK medical team. The role has a specific focus on products in Women's Health. With a significant portfolio and pipeline of products in areas beyond Women's Health, namely General Medicine, Speciality Medicine and Oncology the UK medical team is well established and acts as an excellent platform for progression within the wider business.

Of the company's best-selling products, 2 of the top 5 Bayer drugs are in Women's Health. Bayer seek to pro-actively develop their medics and there would be unrivalled support for speciality training in pharmaceutical medicine. The successful candidate would be joining an excellent company and would work as part of a successful and collaborative medical affairs team.

ROLE

Working with the Head of Medical Advisory for Women's Health and with the UK Medical Director, the Senior Medical Advisor will act in a highly visible capacity to engage with related Business Units and Marketing teams and provide directorship on all medical and scientific issues.

The successful candidate will provide medical input into commercial activities and will ensure that objectives are realised for the therapeutic area. The role requires strong collaborative and customer service skills and the ability to develop and maintain ongoing relationships with opinion leaders and other authorities. The Senior Medical Advisor will also provide strategic medical and scientific input into UK product development for Bayer's portfolio and pipeline drugs in Women's Health.

CANDIDATE

A GMC registered Pharmaceutical physician, the successful candidate will have a strong background in medical affairs and the proven ability to utilise medical / scientific knowledge to meet commercial objectives. Excellent interpersonal, communication and negotiation skills are required for this role as is the desire to work as part of a pro-active and effective team. Experience in Women's Health is preferred but not essential. Candidates with or close to achieving ABPI Signatory status will be at a distinct advantage.

LOCATION & BENEFITS

Newbury, UK

Competitive salary and benefits including an annual bonus, company car allowance, private healthcare and on-going support for further post-graduate qualifications.

TO APPLY

Please send your CV to toby@onlymedics.com or call +44 (0)118 9522 799

www.onlymedics.com

only medics[®]
inspiring medical recruitment